

Accident Insurance

can pay you money for covered accidental injuries and their treatment.

How does it work?

Accident Insurance can pay a set benefit amount based on the type of injury you have and the type of treatment you need. It covers accidents that occur on and off the job. And it includes a range of incidents, from common injuries to more serious events.

Why is this coverage so valuable?

- It can help you with out-of-pocket costs that your medical plan doesn't cover, like co-pays and deductibles.
- You're guaranteed base coverage, without answering health questions.
- The cost is conveniently deducted from your paycheck.
- You can keep your coverage if you change jobs or retire. You'll be billed directly.

Who can get coverage?

You	If you're actively at work*
Your spouse	Ages 17 and up
Your children	Dependent children from birth until their 26th birthday, regardless of marital or student status.

*Employees must be legally authorized to work in the United States and actively working at a U.S. location to receive coverage. Spouses and dependent children must reside in the United States to receive coverage.

- practicing for or participating in any semi-professional or professional competitive athletic contests for which any type of compensation or remuneration is received;
- having any sickness or declining process caused by a sickness, including physical or mental infirmity including any treatment for allergic reactions. Unum also will not pay benefits to diagnose or treat the sickness. Sickness means any illness, infection, disease or any other abnormal physical condition which is not caused by an injury.
 In addition to the exclusions listed above, Unum will also not pay the catastrophic accidental dismemberment or catastrophic accidental loss benefit for the following injuries that are caused by or are the result of:
- an insured's being intoxicated or under the influence of any narcotic unless administered on the advice of a physician; or
- · injuries to a dependent child received during the birth.

Termination of employee coverage

If you choose to cancel your coverage under the policy, your coverage ends on the first of the month following the date you provide notification to your employer. Otherwise, your coverage under the policy ends on the earliest of the:

- · date this policy is cancelled;
- · date you are no longer in an eligible group;
- · date your eligible group is no longer covered;
- · date of your death;
- last day of the period for which you made any required contributions; or last day you are in active employment. However, as long as premium is paid as required, coverage will continue if you elect to continue coverage under the Portability provision or in accordance with the layoff and leave of absence provisions of this policy. Unum will provide coverage for a payable claim which occurs while you are covered under this policy.
